Leadership for a world-class, globally competitive economy

Charleston Regional Development Alliance (CRDA) has served as a catalyst for long-term, sustainable economic prosperity in Berkeley, Charleston, and Dorchester counties since 1995.

We are thankful for the foresight, guidance and contributions of the visionary leaders who have supported this Alliance over the past 25 years.

Our community benefits from this public-private partnership with the region’s most influential business leaders, three county governments, largest municipalities, and top academic institutions working together toward a shared vision for the future.

The steps we collectively take today will impact our region for generations to come.

WHAT DOES CRDA DO?

Drive sustainable economic prosperity by building high-impact industry clusters

Market the Charleston region as a globally competitive location for business, entrepreneurs, and talent

Facilitate the site selection process for companies considering our market for competitive expansion or location investments

Convene regional leaders around key economic competitiveness issues

CRDA’S COVID RESPONSE

As the global pandemic severely impacted our local economy, CRDA adjusted our short-term strategies to help the three-county region rebound as quickly as possible.

ONE REGION READY

At the request of our region’s elected leaders, CRDA engaged a coalition of local business, healthcare, government and nonprofit leaders to champion the safe reopening of our regional economy. The initiative, called One Region Ready, included a comprehensive plan, sector-specific reopening guidelines, and a voluntary pledge for businesses to promote their compliance. Other elements included social marketing and messaging videos to encourage healthy behaviors to stop the spread of COVID-19. The group continues to monitor and report on the economic recovery.

CRDA formed two Rapid Response Teams focused on life sciences and automotive supply chains in anticipation of the impacts and opportunities resulting from COVID-19. Comprising investors and regional stakeholders, the teams interviewed relevant businesses, studied existing assets, and developed specific action items to capitalize on the changing economic landscape. CRDA’s FY20-21 program of work includes a number of these recommendations.

CRDA intensified our efforts to identify and recruit talent with high-demand skills as the pandemic is altering migration patterns from large urban centers to mid-size markets like Charleston. Our research identified the best U.S. metros for targeting talent ads based on in-migration levels, talent pools, average wages, and cost of living. We conducted an online survey in five key metros to gauge perceptions of our region & job opportunities and used the survey results and other data to guide key messaging for new digital ad campaigns targeting talent in key occupations in the Northeast and Northwest.
In Feb. 2020, CRDA’s Capital Connections initiative spun off as the Charleston Deal Alliance (CDA), a nonprofit entity bringing together the region’s dealmakers to compare notes, make new contacts, and identify potential business opportunities. The organization aims to raise the profile of Charleston as an attractive and robust market for closing business deals.

CDA membership is open to individuals and companies in accounting, legal, banking, consulting, recruiting, technology, valuation, and wealth management. With a robust member database, discounts to exclusive events and access to content and information, members will be able to grow their network and increase their profitability.

"Charleston is emerging as a financial hub, which means we need to highlight the incredible deal talent that resides here in the Charleston region."
